

Nigerians tasked on foreign varsities

THE Managing Director, Capital College, United Kingdom, Mr. Taiwo Salami, has advised Nigerian students to explore every opportunity that foreign universities can offer to them.

He said that Capital College had trained many Nigerians since its inception and the Education desk of PUNCH was aware that he left Nigeria in 1982 to study in the United Kingdom, where he obtained all his professional and academic qualifications. He has been assisting Nigerians to get good university education in London.

According to Salami, Capital College, UK is based in London and is specially equipped to train professionals in the field of Accountancy (ACCA) Business Management (ABE, ICMA) and Marketing (CIM).
